- Write five characters in 'Audrey's Big Secret'. Jumble the names, then swap with someone else to see if you can un-jumble their list.
- Put your own list of five characters in alphabetical order.
- Describe each of those characters in five words.
- Now write down five words that describe you.
- For the five characters you chose from 'Audrey's Big Secret', write a sentence for each saying why you think the author, Christine Harris, chose that name.
- Do you think the characters would be the same if they had different names, and why do you feel that way?
- Why do you think names of characters in stories are important?
- Describe what each of those five characters looks like?
- Read out some of your descriptions and take note where they are the same and where they are different to others. Discuss why you agree or disagree.
- Draw one of your chosen characters.
- Who is your favourite character in the book, and why?
